

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. * The burial of Rose wife of Mr Golston is recorded on 22nd May 1563. He must therefore have re-married very shortly afterwards. A rather curious mistake in Mr Cussans' list of the Vicars of Aldenham may be noticed here. He gives a Thomas Bartholomew instituted in 1558, followed by Thomas Golston whose date of institution he does not give. But both names appear to belong to one man, as will be seen on reference to the Will of Edward Huddle of Aldenham, proved in Oct. 1583, an abstract of which was printed in The Herts Genealogist, Vol. II. p. 228.

* After this entry nine entries follow, the first of which is clearly dated December 5th 1653 and the others follow on from that date to the two first entries of the following year which are repeated at the beginning of the 1654 entries in another part of the register. The date 1653 put against those two entries in the original register may therefore I think be treated as an obvious mistake; it is a later insertion. The nine entries from Dec: /53 are therefore here omitted and printed in their proper chronological place and I have assumed for reasons given at the beginning of the next year that the July entry with which the next page begins is the first of the remaining entries for 1652. K.F.G.

† The year 1654 is written here evidently in error.

‡ 1654 is inserted here and must be an error for 1653. The real entries for 1654 come (with entries for 1655-9) in another part of the Register, and there are no other entries for the 8 months April—November (inclusive) 1653. K.F.G.

Mr. Edward Fynch, one of the Company's tenants at Aldenham, to be custos of the Almshouses instead of Mr. Campion from next midsummer and to receive 20/- a year.

The Minister of Aldenham or some neighbour Minister to conduct the examination at the yearly visitation and receive 20/- a year.

1672 In this year a Committee was appointed by the Company to consider how to improve the free School, whether by removing it to Watford, or by other means, and the Committee suggested that the 'overplus' of the income from the Platt Estate should be spent on a Free School at Watford. The plan was discussed between Sir Wm. Bucknall (for the Company) and certain Inhabitants of Watford and received by the latter most favourably as "a great kindness" to them. The Lecturer's House would, they said, be a convenient School House and the Town would take it and give the Lecturer another. The Company accordingly drafted a Bill which was read a first time in the House of Lords but withdrawn owing to the "obstruction" of Lord Holles, Lord of the Manor of Aldenham, who objected to having Aldenham money spent on Watford. The Company state that they did not intend to decrease but rather to increase the allowance to the Almspeople; nor did they intend to diminish the allowance for maintenance of Aldenham School but they say that "the Schoole at Aldenham neither is nor ever is like to be a School for breeding of Schollers more than to write & read, of which the Company have bin very sensible from yeare to yeare at their visitation.

1673 Report of visitation, Mr. Campion gone and no Schoolmaster there, and the three nominated by St John's had all refused the post.

Mr. R. Nicoll being one of the three nominated by St. John's was elected by the Court and thankfully accepted the post.

1677 In 1677 a bill was filed against the Company in the matter of the Platt trust; they took legal advice and ordered that the Accts should be submitted to Lord Holles and that if he were not satisfied then an answer to the Bill should be 'putt in.'

This answer was putt in in 1678 and the matter seems to have been settled in 1679 by allowing Lord Holles to inspect the Accts every year if he felt so inclined.

In 1677 Mr. Sone Vicar of Aldenham asked the Court to help a boy named Fox then in the School to go to the University. Fox's Father was ordered to try to get a letter of recommendation from Lord Holles.

In 1678 such a letter was received from Lord Holles and after some debate the Court decided to take legal advice as to their power to use Platt funds for this purpose.

1678 Meanwhile they sent the boy Fox some school books which he needed.

Number of boys limited to 36. Chiefly little boys there at present.

1801-12 For 12 years or more Mr. Davies seems to have done fairly well, teaching a few little boys to read “Mrs. Trimmer” “with a provincial tone”

1813 On a petition from Elstree presented by the Vicar of Aldenham the numbers admitted were increased.

1814 “Mr. Bells new system” introduced

1818-1823 50 boys in 1819. Order in 1820 that boys should be admitted by the Vicar (Mr. Lomax) Sir Charles Pole of Aldenham Abbey and J. F. Timins Esq of Hilfield.

The Rev Methusalem Davies died in Jan 1823 and was buried in Aldenham. Mrs. Davies was granted a pension of £20 a year for the very excellent manner in which she had conducted the domestic arrangements of the School for more than 23 years.

In the course of 1823 the Rev. Henry Hunter Hughes was elected headmaster but declined the post and the Usher James Summersby remained in charge for over a year.

1824 The Rev Jonathan Wilkinson M.A. elected Headmaster out of 17 Candidates in 1824, came into residence in March 1826. He was Headmaster of St. Saviour's School, Southwark, in 1819.

Important alterations in the School.

In 1818 the Charity Commissioners claimed to investigate the Platt Charity, the Company took the opinions of the Solicitor General and of Mr. Sergt. Lens and then submitted to the investigation. The First Report of the Commissioners on the Education of the Poor p. 78-80 and the Appendix to the same Report p. 121-128 give a very full account of the Platt Trust Fund and of the School. The examination of the Clerk of the Brewers Company and of Mr. Nicholas Charrington and of the Rev. Methusalem Davies took place on 22nd Sept: 1818. At this time the School had existed for over 200 years and had been an Elementary Day School for the sons of farmers and labourers. Reading and writing were taught more or less badly and sometimes a little arithmetic and very rarely a very little Latin. The children were also taught the Church Catechism and were taken to Church. It must be remembered that the gross total Income for School and Almshouses was only £54 a year in 1600 and that the average gross Income 200 years later (say in the last 30 years of the 18th Century) was only about £175 a year. At the beginning of the 19th Century however the Income rose considerably and the average gross Income for the first 17 years (1800-1817) was over £900 a year but much of this had to be spent on the laying out of the Platt Estate at St. Pancras.

After the death of the Rev: Methusalem Davies in 1823 the Company decided to improve the School in view of the increasing income of the Platt Estate and by 1825 they had built a Lower School for 60 or 80 boys and appointed a Master with a salary of £60 a year to teach them reading, writing and arithmetic. They then pulled down the old Elizabethan School-building which had become too ruinous to repair and built a new Boarding School for the reception of 50 Boarders sons of freemen of the Company or inhabitants of Aldenham.

Of these two Schools the Lower School did good work for about 36 years, a large number of boys getting a good common English education in it till the building fell out of repair and was replaced by the two present Elementary Schools for Boys at Medburn and Delrow, which were built under the provisions of the Scheme for the Management of the Platt Estates dated 18 June 1861.

The Boarding School was certainly not as useful during this same period of 36 years as the Lower School, only about 10 Boys were on the Foundation at any Visitation before 1850 and 10 or 15 private pupils and in "Mr. Inspector Hare's Report" 1859 there is no word of praise for the Boarding School such as he gives freely to the Lower School. But at all events a real classical and mathematical education was given to the few boys who were there and in 1858 a boy from the School "obtained the high degree of 6th Wrangler"

1825 The New Buildings seem to have cost altogether about £5000 of which £1000 was borrowed at 4% from Mr. Charrington.

1826 Hon: and Rev: W. Thellusson, Vicar, elected Custos.

1827 Five boys in the Grammar School. Creditable examination in Latin, Greek, Geography, History, &c.

£20 voted towards Restoration of Aldenham Church.

1843 Resignation of Mr. Spyres. Letter from Mr. Benbow (the Vicar) and others expressing great regret at losing this "excellent Master whose exertions, talents and gentlemanly conduct had raised the School to its present respectability" and reporting the "openly expressed opinion that the Court did not sufficiently uphold the authority of the Master"

Among the boys who were in the School at this time were Frederick Jackson late Rector of Stunmore and Frederick Lipscomb the present Vicar of Frogmore near St. Albans.

Mr. Lipscomb writes under date 23 January 1902 "My recollection of my School days at Aldenham is none of the happiest. I believe

Dr. Spyers was a good, upright, high principled man whom one could not but respect. But I do not think that he was a good Schoolmaster and his only Assistant, if I remember rightly, was a weak brother who was a regular butt with the boys. The boys were kept in the grounds, which were then very small, like prisoners, with an occasional walk with the Usher.

There was no freedom to go out within bounds and so no appeal to boys' honour. There was little encouragement given to games, I think cricket was the only one.

Jackson & I were chums and amused ourselves I remember in making a clock which we actually got to go for five minutes or so!

The moral tone of the School was very low. A boy who was determined to say his prayers had to go through 'a furnace of fire.' I fancy Dr. Spyers was more successful when he removed to Weybridge and was unfettered."

Rev. Alfred Leeman M.A. late Scholar of St. John's Cambridge elected. 27 boys in Grammar School.

The Rev. Dr. Russell (Head Master of Charterhouse) received a piece of plate value 100 guineas for his kindness in examining the boys for 18 years.

Grant of £100 towards rebuilding Elstree Church.

The Hon<sup>ble</sup> Albert Yelverton Bingham elected on to the foundation of Aldenham School.

Grant of £10 towards new Organ for Aldenham Church.

Charitable Trusts Act passed.

1857 Scheme for administration of Platt Trust prepared by the Company and submitted to Charity Commissioners.

Visitation. Report on examination in classics, altogether good; Hockin gave proof of talent & sound teaching in high Math<sup>l</sup> subjects.

1858 Public Meeting in Aldenham to discuss the draft scheme. Mr. Inspector Hare of the Charity Commission presided. Present the Vicar of Aldenham & many neighbours including several Incumbeants.

Mr. David Pitcairn of Jesus College Cambridge B.A. son of Mr. J. Pitcairn Citizen & Brewer, presented with the Freedom & Livery of the Company and invited to examine the School in Mathematics he, having "conferred distinction" on Aldenham School by obtaining the high degree of 6th Wrangler at Cambridge.

1859 A voluminous report received from Mr. Inspector Hare.

A copy of this very interesting report is still in possession of the Company.

1860 Colonel Black, father of a boy in the School, had a correspondence about the dietary with Mr. Leeman.

The Court regretted that the Colonel should have made “remarks which were sure to be painful to Mr. Leeman’s feelings” and that the Headmaster should have replied with “singular want of temper.”

1861 Scheme for the Management of Platt Estate approved by the Court of Chancery 18 June 1861

This Scheme is in print.

1862 Mr. Leeman refuses to admit the Master of the Company into the School during School time and is reprimanded.

Cubitt’s tender for School at Medburn £2281 accepted.

The Building is copied from a School at Swallowfield, Bucks.

Cubitt’s tender £5720 accepted for alterations at the Grammar School.

Note. The old Almshouses lay between the Grammar School and the Lower School and it was intended to convert them into a sort of Cloister connecting the two buildings but this does not seem to have been done—possibly the old Almshouses which dated from 1599 were too ruinous. Part of the Lower School is still standing and is used as a gardener’s cottage.

1865 Twenty additional Boarders appointed on to the Foundation, the new buildings being fit for their reception.

Mr. Edward H. Martineau elected Surveyor to the Company.

1869 Petition to be exempted from the operation of the Endowed Schools bill.

Two sons of Mr. Monkhouse of Boydens Hill admitted as Day-boys.

1869 Mr. Leeman suggests the throwing open of the School to any who may wish to come to “what should & might be a Public School.”

Consideration of a Draft Scheme drawn under instructions from the Company by Mr. G. T. Borrell.

1870 The Endowed Schools Commission suggest a change in the composition of the Governing Body of the School.

The Court protests but afterwards (in 1872) agree to “give something of a County character to the Governing Body”

Elementary Education Act (1870) becomes law.

1871 Mr. Leeman offers to resign if he is granted £3500 instead of a pension and a further gift of one third of Entrance fees received from people who had obtained the Freedom of the Brewers Company during his time in order to send sons to the School. He states that he is "convinced that Aldenham School under present requirements will prove a delusion."

He answers that "having been a very long time indeed in harness" he thinks that he "may fairly look for the run of a paddock though a small one" and accepts the offer with cordial thanks.

Mr. Leeman left at Xmas 1876, there were 47 boys in the School, the state of the School was unsatisfactory, the tone & discipline being very far from good. Most of the windows were broken by the boys on "breaking-up" day.

The best day's work that was ever done for Aldenham School was done on July 17th, 1876, when Mr. Kennedy was elected to the Headmastership. It is impossible to over-estimate what the School owes to him, he had a difficult work to do and he did it through 23 years with unbroken and most remarkable success. He found the School small and disorderly and he left it nearly four times as large as he found it and with a reputation for character and for education of which any School might be proud. The Governors accepted his resignation with the greatest regret, and they placed on record in their Minute Book that his "invaluable services and unselfish devotion had raised the School to its present high position."

1899 The Rev A. H. Cooke elected Headmaster out of 62 candidates. Mr. Cooke was Scholar of King's College, Cambridge, Craven Univ. Scholar 1877, Senior Classic 1878, Fellow of King's 1879, Univ. ## A Brief Summary of the History of the Manor of Aldenham.

About the time of the Norman Conquest (1066 A.D.) the Abbot of St. Albans leased this Manor to the Abbot of Westminster for twenty years on condition that he kept the road in the thickly-wooded neighbourhood of Aldenham free from robbers. From that time onwards there were constant disputes between the two Abbots as to their respective rights over Aldenham, though they seem to have settled some of their disputes in 1296, in which year we find them agreeing together that at Keneprowe or Kemprow, in this parish, they would erect a common gallows on which to hang persons condemned by either of them to death.

At the Dissolution King Henry VIII. seized the Manor, and on August 8th, 1547, he granted it to Ralph Stepney and Joan his wife.

In their family it remained till 1588, when Paul Stepney sold the Manor to Sir Edward Cary, Knt., father of Henry 1st Viscount Falkland.

On June 25th, 1642, Lucius 2nd Viscount Falkland sold the Manor to Sir Job Harby, Bart., and shortly after his death in April, 1663, his son, Sir Erasmus Harby, sold it to Denzil Holles, 1st Lord Holles of Ifeild.

From his grandson, the 3rd and last Lord Holles of Ifeild, the Manor was inherited on January 25th, 1693, by a somewhat distant cousin, John 4th Earl of Clare, who in 1694 was created Marquess of Clare and Duke of Newcastle. He took down the Manor House, which stood near Aldenham Place Farm, at the east end of the field known as the Bowling Green. On his death, July 15, 1711, the Manor was inherited by his nephew, Thomas Pelham Holles 2nd Baron Pelham. This nobleman was created Viscount Haughton and Earl of Clare in 1714, Marquess of Clare and Duke of Newcastle-upon-Tyne in 1715, Duke of Newcastle-under-Lyne in 1756, and Baron Pelham of Stanmer, County Sussex, in 1762. He sold the Manor in 1754 to Samuel Vandall, Esq., whose stepson, Thomas Neate, Esq., sold it in 1799 to George Woodford Thellusson, Esq., second son of Peter Thellusson, Esq. Mr. George Thellusson (who built Aldenham Abbey) sold the Manor to the Trustees of his father's will in 1805.

The present Lord of the Manor is Frederick William Brook Thellusson 5th Lord Rendlesham, great grandson of the above-mentioned Peter Thellusson, Esq.

Aldenham Place.

The picture which forms the Frontispiece of this Volume bears on its face the inscription "Aldenham House East part of the House" and as I hope to show presently it is almost certainly intended for the Old Manor House of Aldenham. But first it may be well to say that the original from which this reproduction is made is part of a large and exceedingly interesting collection of Hertfordshire pictures made about the year 1800 by a Schoolmaster at Welwyn for the then Baron Dimsdale and owned by the present Baron. I have a list of about 60 pictures in this Collection connected with Aldenham including many Coats of Arms, Brasses, &c, and there is, besides the picture here reproduced, a picture of the present Aldenham House then called "Penns Place" a red brick House built about 1640 and bearing no resemblance to the Elizabethan Mansion represented in the Frontispiece.

One might be left in some doubt as to what this other earlier Aldenham House might be but there is a hatchment on the front of the House in the picture and the Arms are plainly intended for those of Francis Lord Holles of Ifield and Anne his wife.

From these Arms we are able to identify the house with the old Manor House of the Manor of Aldenham, the site of which is marked by some mounds at the east end of the field, on the south side of the path leading to the Churchyard from the direction of Round Bush. The field is known to this day as the Bowling Green, though it is probably 200 years since a game of bowls was played in it, and the house faced the old road (closed in 1802) which ran from Four Want Ways across the fields, and through the Vicarage Garden to the road near the Church.

The old farmhouse close to the Church is still called the "Place Farm," and it is probable that the real name of the Manor House was "Aldenham Place." It is not known when it was built, Mr. Page the Editor of the "Victoria County History of Herts" tells me that in a document dated about the time of Sir Edward Cary's death (1618) there is a reference to the "Capital Messuage of the Manor" as the House in which Robert Stepneth formerly lived. Now Robert Stepneth was Father of Paul Stepneth who sold the Manor in 1588 to Sir Edward Cary so the House was probably built by one of the Stepneth family about 1580 and was bought with the Manor by Sir Edward Cary Knt who was Lord of the Manor of Aldenham from 1588 to 1618 when he died.

His son Henry, first Viscount Falkland, was born and died in Aldenham, and was buried with his father in Aldenham Church. Lord Falkland's famous son, Lucius, second Viscount Falkland, was born at Burford Priory, Oxon, and died at the age of 33, fighting for King Charles at Newbury, in 1643. One of his sons, Lorenzo, was christened at Aldenham in 1637, and another son, Adolphus, was buried here in 1640. In 1642, to raise money for the King, he sold the property to Sir Job Harby, Knt., who was created Baronet by Charles II. for his services to the Royalist cause; his son, Sir Erasmus, sold it again in 1664 to Denzil, Lord Holles of Ifield. Lord Holles died in 1679, aged

81, and was buried at St. Peter's, Dorchester, where there is a monument to him, with a most flowery inscription, "to eternize his name and honour."

His son, Francis, Lord Holles, married Anne, daughter of Sir Francis Pile, and they made for themselves in the North Chancel Aisle of Aldenham Church an "elevated pew," some panels from which hang now in our Vestry, the pew itself having been taken down in the restoration of the chancel in 1847. This Lord Holles died at Aldenham in 1689, and was buried at Ifield in Sussex. His only son, Denzill, Lord Holles, died four years later, aged about 19 years.

Cussans, in his history of Herts (page 242, Hundred of Dacorum), says that there was a tradition in Aldenham that Anne, widow of Francis Lord Holles lived in the old house till her death, about 1700, and that she was the last of this family, and that on her death Aldenham Place was destroyed. But all this is quite incorrect, for Anne, Lady Holles died at her house in Lincolns Inn Fields on 8th March, and was buried 4th May, 1682, at Ifield, seven years before her husband. After the death of the third Lord Holles, the property was inherited by his distant cousin, John, Duke of Newcastle, but, probably, neither he nor his successor, Thomas, Lord Pelham (created Earl of Clare in 1714, and Duke of Newcastle in 1715,) ever lived here.

Salmon, in his "History of Herts," published in 1728, says that the Manor House was pulled down by John, Duke of Newcastle, who was Lord of the Manor here from 1692 to 1711; and this was probably the case, as it is not a point on which a contemporary historian is likely to have been mistaken, but it is remarkable that during the whole time that John, Duke of Newcastle held the Manor, and for several years before and after, the rateable value of his property here was never reduced or altered by a single penny. In 1727, however, it was suddenly reduced from £300, at which figure it had been rated for at least forty years, to £150, and I can only suppose that the Parish authorities continued to rate the Duke and his successor on this house after its destruction till Thomas, Duke of Newcastle, or his agent, protested, and obtained the reduction in 1727.

The Family of the Viscounts Falkland.

The following Inscription on a brass placed in Aldenham Church in 1889 by the present Viscount Falkland, is a record of most of the members of his family who were buried in the Cary Vault under the Altar during the first half of the 17th Century.

"In memory of Sir Edward Carye, Knt: Lord of the Manor of Aldenham and Patron of this Church, whose body was invaulted in the Chancel of this Church, Aug. vii, 1618.

"Also of his wife Katherine, da: of Sir Henry Knevett, Knt: who was married first to Henry, 2nd Baron Paget, and was buried here Dec. xxii, 1622.

"Also of Henry, 1st Viscount Falkland and Lord Carye in Scotland, son of the above named Sir Edward Carye, Knt: and Katherine his wife, he was Lord Deputy of Ireland from 1622 to 1629, and was buried here Sept xxv, 1633

"Also of Mr. Adolphus Carye, son of Lucius, 2nd Viscount Falkland and Lord Carye, he died at the age of 2 years, and was buried here Jan. xxii, 1640.

"This brass tablet is erected to the memory of his ancestors, by Byron Plantagenet Cary, xiith Viscount Falkland and Lord Cary. October, 1899."

The above named Sir Edward Carye, Knt., left no less than £200 for his funeral expenses, and £200 also for a tomb to be set up for himself and his wife at Aldenham but so far as is known no such tomb was erected; there was, however, an old inscription in the church to the memory of Sir Edward Carye and of his son, for the chancel arch was filled up as low down as the capitals of the pillars with a plaster partition, and on the side facing the congregation the Ten Commandments were painted, while on the other side was painted in water colours Sir Edward's coat-of-arms, with its thirty "quarterings," and above the arms a short inscription to the memory of Sir Edward and of his son Henry Viscount Falkland. In 1813 the church was restored and the partition destroyed, but I suppose that the inscription was copied on to a piece of painted wood which used to hang on the wall north of the Chancel Arch, just above the seats in the chancel where Lord Aldenham and his family sit, but was taken down many years ago, because those who then sat beneath it complained of the swarms of bats which lived behind it. This wooden tablet disappeared at the time of the restoration of the Church in 1882, but the inscription which was on it is preserved in Clutterbuck's History of Herts, vol. I., p. 136. A similar partition may be seen to this day in the Chancel Arch of Bushey Church. The only old monument to any member of the Carye family now remaining in the Church, is the marble tablet on the south wall of the chancel, in memory of Sir Edward Carye's daughter Meriall, who married Thomas Crumpton, and died 15th May, 1600.

Sir Edward Carye, Knt., was second son of Sir John Carye, Knt., of Plashey (who died in 1551 and was buried at Hunsdon) by Joyce, 5th daughter of Sir Edmund Denny, Knt., and widow of William Walsingham, whose son the famous Secretary of State, Sir Francis Walsingham, was consequently half-brother to Sir Edward Carye. The latter was Groom of the Privy Chamber, Keeper of Marylebone

Park, Master of the Jewel-house, etc., and was Knighted by Queen Elizabeth in 1596.

In 1560 he obtained from the Crown the lease of Berkhamstead Castle, and when the estates of Sir John Neville were confiscated, the Queen granted to him the Manor of Hunslet near Leeds.

In 1588 he bought the Manor of Aldenham. He married the Dowager Lady Paget, widow of Henry, 2nd Baron Paget, and had several children, of whom his eldest son Henry succeeded him as Lord of the Manor of Aldenham, his second son Adolphus succeeded him at Great Berkhamstead, and was buried there in 1609, while his third son Philip succeeded him at Hunslet. This Sir Philip and his wife Elizabeth (Bland) and his sons Philip and Adolphus (both children) and his daughter Anne, wife of William, 6th Baron Willoughby of Parham, were all buried at Aldenham.

Lord and Lady Willoughby had a daughter Catherine who married Charles, 3rd Viscount Cullen, and their great-grandson, the Honorable William Cockayne of Rushton Hall, was grandfather to the late Lady Aldenham, who died in 1897.

Sir Edward Carye died at his London House in Great St. Bartholomew's, 18 July, 1618, and was buried at Aldenham. His widow (called in the Burial Register the Right Honorable Lady Katherine Paget) was buried at Aldenham in 1622.

Sir Edward left to his son Henry Carye all his household stuff and white plate, linen, brass, and pewter at his houses in London and in Aldenham, his wife to have the use of the same during life or widowhood, and his wife to have also his carriage, coach horses, and six of his saddle horses. He left his gold buttons to be divided between his "daughter Manners" (wife of Sir George Manners, afterwards 7th Earl of Rutland married here in 1605), and his "daughter Barrett" (wife of Sir Edward Barrett, afterwards Lord Newburgh). Also £20 to his "daughter Longville" (wife of Sir Henry Longueville married here in 1597). Also £20 to his "daughter Leake" (wife of Sir Francis Leke, afterwards Earl of Scarsdale) and other Legacies.

Sir Edward's wife, Lady Paget, left among other legacies her "new couch and canopy" in her bedchamber to her daughter Lady Manners; her Cabinet to her daughter Lady Leake, her clock to her grand-daughter Elizabeth Cary (Lady Briggs), her diamond bracelet to her grand-daughter Anne (Lady Willoughby), and all her linen to be divided between these two last mentioned ladies.

Henry, Lord Falkland, said to have been born at Aldenham about 1575. Educated at Exeter College, Oxford. M.P. for Herts, 1614-1622. Knight of the Bath, 1616. Controller of the Household, 1617. Created Viscount of Falkland and Lord Carye, 1620. Lord Deputy of Ireland, 1622-1629. Married in 1600 Elizabeth, daughter and heiress of Sir Laurence Tanfield, Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, of Burford Priory, Oxfordshire. He died in 1633 from breaking his leg in Theobald's Park, and was buried in Aldenham Church.

His marriage was not a happy one, his wife, who was only 15 when he married her, became secretly a Roman Catholic at the age of 19, but did not confess the fact to her husband till 20 years later in Dublin, when in 1625 Lord and Lady Falkland were separated. Both of them were constantly in want of money in spite of his considerable fortune. In 1618 he sold the office of Master of the Jewel-house to Sir Henry Mildmay (grandson to Sir Walter, whose wife was a Walsingham, half-sister to Sir Edward Carye), and he is said to have prevailed on his wife to mortgage the remainder of her jointure which so displeased her father that he cut them off and settled Burford Priory on their eldest son Lucius.

After the separation Lady Falkland seems to have been sometimes in real want, as her husband allowed her but little, and that little was not punctually paid.

There is much matter about them in the Calendar of State Papers (Domestic) from 1619 to 1630.

Shortly before the separation Lady Falkland petitioned the King through Lord Conway for help to her husband. "My reasons are 9 children not unhopeful all designed to His Majesty's Service either by serving him themselves or to bring forth servants for him; my Lord himself hath before his birth both in his Father and Mother served the King's predecessors and in his own person been a follower to three princes"; to this letter she adds a very pertinent post-script. "The best answer to my letter is to perform the contents of it." And in another letter she says that she intends "to go down to Aldham where though there be no stuff for my children, there is a bed for myself."

For further particulars of this lady (who died aged 54 in 1639) see "The Lady Falkland: her life from a M.S. in the Imperial Archives at Lille. London, 1861." She was a great Linguist, and wrote the lives of several Saints in verse, besides writing several hymns.

Theobald's Park, where Lord Falkland met with the accident which caused his death, was the property of King James I.; it was a magnificent House, in the Parish of Cheshunt, Herts, built by the Great Lord Burghley, and exchanged by his son Robert, Earl of Salisbury, for Hatfield House, because the King wanted Theobald's.

Lucius, Lord Falkland, was born at Burford Priory in 1610, educated at Trinity College, Dublin, and at St. John's, Cambridge. In 1629 he inherited the estates at Great Tew and Burford, Oxon, from his grandfather, Chief Baron Tanfield. About 1630 he displeased his father by marrying Lettice, daughter of Richard Morison, but the marriage seems to have been happy, and the lady (who died in 1646) left behind her a great reputation for virtue, piety, and good work. See "The Vertuous Holy Christian Life and Death of the late Lady Lettice, Viscountess Falkland. London, 1653."

Lord Falkland was M.P. for Newport, Isle of Wight, 1640, and though at first he supported the Parliamentary Party, yet he turned afterwards to the King and was his Secretary of State in 1642, was with him at Edgehill and at the siege of Gloucester, and died fighting for him in the first battle of Newbury, 1643.

He was only 33 when he died, but has left so great a name in the history of his time that it is not necessary to speak of him at any length. Lord Clarendon says of him that he was "a man of prodigious parts both natural and acquired, of untouched reputation in point of integrity, of inimitable sweetness and delight in conversation, and of such goodness to mankind and innocency of life as could hardly be equalled."

Lord Falkland sold the Manor of Aldenham to Sir Job Harby, Bart., on June 25th, 1642.

In his will dated 12 June, 1642, he leaves his "soul to God my body to earth to be buried as my ex'trix shall think fit. All my personal estate to my dearly beloved wife Lettice Viscountess of Falkland whom I appt. execr."

Charge on Priest's Heath.

The following is a copy of the deed, dated July 8th, 1620, by which Sir Henry Carye (afterwards Lord Falkland) secured to the Parish of Aldenham an annual charge of £1 on a close of land called Priest's Heath, now in the possession of Mr. D. Stuart, of Aldenham Abbey.

This "charge" forms part of the "Church estate," which is administered in accordance with a scheme prepared by the Charity Commissioners, dated February 8th, 1870. By the scheme, the income of the estate is to be applied towards the maintenance and repair of the Parish Church of Aldenham, and subject thereto towards defraying the other expenses usually covered by a Church Rate.

"This indenture, made the 8th day of July, in the year of the reign of our Sovereign Lord James, by the grace of God, of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, etc., that is to say: of England, France and Ireland the eighteenth, and of Scotland the three and fiftieth.

"Between the Rt. Hon. ### Aldenham Common.

The following document is in the possession of Lord Aldenham; it is not dated, but was probably written about 1640.

"Where as we understand that it is intended by the Right Honble the Lord ffaulkland being moued by the instigation of some of his servants as we suppose to inclose a certaine proportion of the Common in Aldenham to the intent to convert it to his owne vse. Nowe we whose names are underwritten having duly considered of the greate inconveniences which will growe thereby, not only to ourselves in pticular but to succeeding ages; as also fearing God's curse on yeelding to that which our fore-fathers would never condescend unto. We doe here signify that we are resolved to keepe & maintaine our right so farre as Lawe will permit."

Henry Coghill, Richard Smith, Thomas Brisco, Richard Axtell, and 23 others.

A dispute of this same kind arose about 60 years before between the Parishioners and the Lord of the Manor. The Parishioners claimed that there were 2000 acres of Common land and the Lord of the Manor admitted that there were 1000 acres and that he having no convenient house proposed to enclose 50 acres and build a house. It was probably after this year (1576) that the Lord of the Manor (Stepneth) built Aldenham Place, which was sold by Paul Stepneth to Sir Edward Cary in 1588. (See supra on "Aldenham Place.")

In 1801 an Act of Parliament (41 George iii.) was passed for "Inclosing" Aldenham Common; and in the preamble of the Act these Common and Waste Lands were estimated to amount to about 500 acres.

Clergy in Aldenham, 1559-1659.

Cussans, in his History of Herts, gives six Vicars of Aldenham during this hundred years, but in fact there were only five, for, as Mr. Brigg has pointed out in a footnote on page 4, Thomas Bartholomew and Thomas Golston are one and the same person. Mr. Cussans was unable to find any date of Golston's Institution and Golston's identity with Bartholomew is proved by the fact that he witnessed the will of Edward Huddle in 1583 and signed his name as "Thos. Golston alias Bartylmew Vicar of this Parish." In the Registers he appears as Golston, though he was Instituted as Bartholomew in 1558.

His first wife, Rose, was buried here on 22nd May, 1563, but he must have married again at once, for his daughter Katherin was christened here 13 months after the burial of his wife Rose, and five other children (Judith, Nicholas, Rose, Jone and Margaret) in the five following years. Of these children, Judith and Nicholas died as infants and were buried here. Katherin and Rose were married in 1581 and 1584, and the Vicar himself was buried here on 23rd April, 1598, five days after the Institution of his successor.

There was a Tho: Golston de brightstreate, whose infant daughter Jone was christened and buried here in May, 1581, and a Thom: Golston who married Phillis Ward here in November, 1590, but probably these belonged to another family of Golstons. "Brightstreate" or Bridestreet is now a grass lane running from the Lodge in the Park at Hilfield to Dagger Lane.

2. Robert Pratt, instituted 18th April, 1598. Patron, Sir Edward Carye, Knt.

Mr. Pratt held the living over 27 years, and was buried here in 1625. His mother was buried here in 1600, and his infant son Robert in 1610. He had five children christened here, Robert 1610, Rebecca 1618, Henry 1621, Sara 1622, and Anne 1625. His signature "Robert Pratt, Minister," may be seen on many pages of the Register. Among the Records of the Archdeaconry of St. Albans there is a testimonial to one Nicholas Hall, which Mr. Pratt signs as "Minister of God's Word in Aldenham," though the document is dated 24th March, 1598, which is about a month before the burial of Mr. Golston, whom he succeeded as Vicar of Aldenham.

Mr. Urwick, in his "Nonconformity in Herts," page 245, mentions that Mr. Pratt was Curate of Watford in 1590, and produces the following evidence that he was a Puritan—"Nov. 20, 1610, contra Mr. Robert Pratt, Minister of Aldenham, that he doth not usually wear the Surplice, neither doth he use the sign of the Cross in Baptism. Fama est that he doth not usually, but sometimes he doth. Dominus Monuit that he do, if any child happen to come to be baptized, sign it with the Cross, and that he shall usually wear the Surplice." This Robert Pratt's Puritanism also appeared in his presenting one Edwin Smith, of Aldenham, for playing cards in evening prayer time, and Thomas Grubb, of Aldenham, that he did come to St. Albans on the Sabbath day for malt to carry to London."

3. Matthew (or Matthias) Milward. Cussans says that Mr. Milward was instituted on 19th December, 1625, and that the Patron was Edmund Pye. Urwick says "Matthew (or Matthias) Millward, B.D., was instituted by Edmund Pye Arm, 21st January, 1625-6." In the Marriage Register 1626, his signature will be found, "Matthias Milward, Minister," and in the Baptismal Register, 1627.

4. Benjamine Spencor. There is no record of this Vicar of Aldenham except what may be gathered from the Registers. His signature first occurs in the Registers in April, 1634, and last in May, 1640. His wife's name was Bridget, and he had two children christened here "Hellen" in April, 1637, and Benjamin in May, 1639, and in the following February the infant Benjamin was buried here.

5. Joseph Sone, instituted 6th March, 1641.

Walker, in his list of "Suffering clergy," describes this worthy as "a very prudent pious and learned man," but White in his "Century of Scandalous and Malignant Priests," describes him as a "Common quareller, gamester and alehouse haunter," and says that he was "frequently drunk," and that he "called the Parliament soldiers Parliament dogges."

Certainly the House of Lords took the latter view on May 6th, 1643, when the Cure of Aldenham was sequestered, and John Gilping, M.A., was ordered to officiate.

John Gilping was one of several "godly ministers" who were intruded into the Vicarage of Aldenham between 1643 and 1660.

Another was Mr. Matthew Randall who was here in 1646-7 and was succeeded by Mr. Thomas Horwood. In 1650 the Cure was served by a "godly orthodox divine," Mr. John Travers or Travis, whose signature will be found among the baptisms of 1650.

Mr. Urwick states that Mr. Travers was here till 1660, but in 1654 one William Flye seems to have been in charge, for in November of that year, "William Flye, Minister of this Parish," was married to "Susanna Sleap of Senpeters."

In 1660 Joseph Sone came back again and remained here till his death in 1683, but the story of all his quarrels and offences must be told in the next volume of these Registers.

Several other Clergy in Aldenham from 1559 to 1659 were School-masters and Ushers of Aldenham Grammar School, and Mr. Urwick mistakes some of them for Vicars.

For instance, Ralph Duncombe, who on 7th April, 1610, "did willingly and ex animo subscribe to the three articles (Whitgifts Articles) mentioned in the 36th Canon," was never Vicar of Aldenham, but Usher of Aldenham School from 1607 to 1613. There was another Ralph Duncombe living here with his wife and family in 1607, who had been married in 1574, and had a son named "Raph" christened here in 1588, and this younger Ralph may perhaps have been the Usher, but if so he would have been only 22 years old when he subscribed the Articles in 1610, and only 19 when he was appointed Usher.

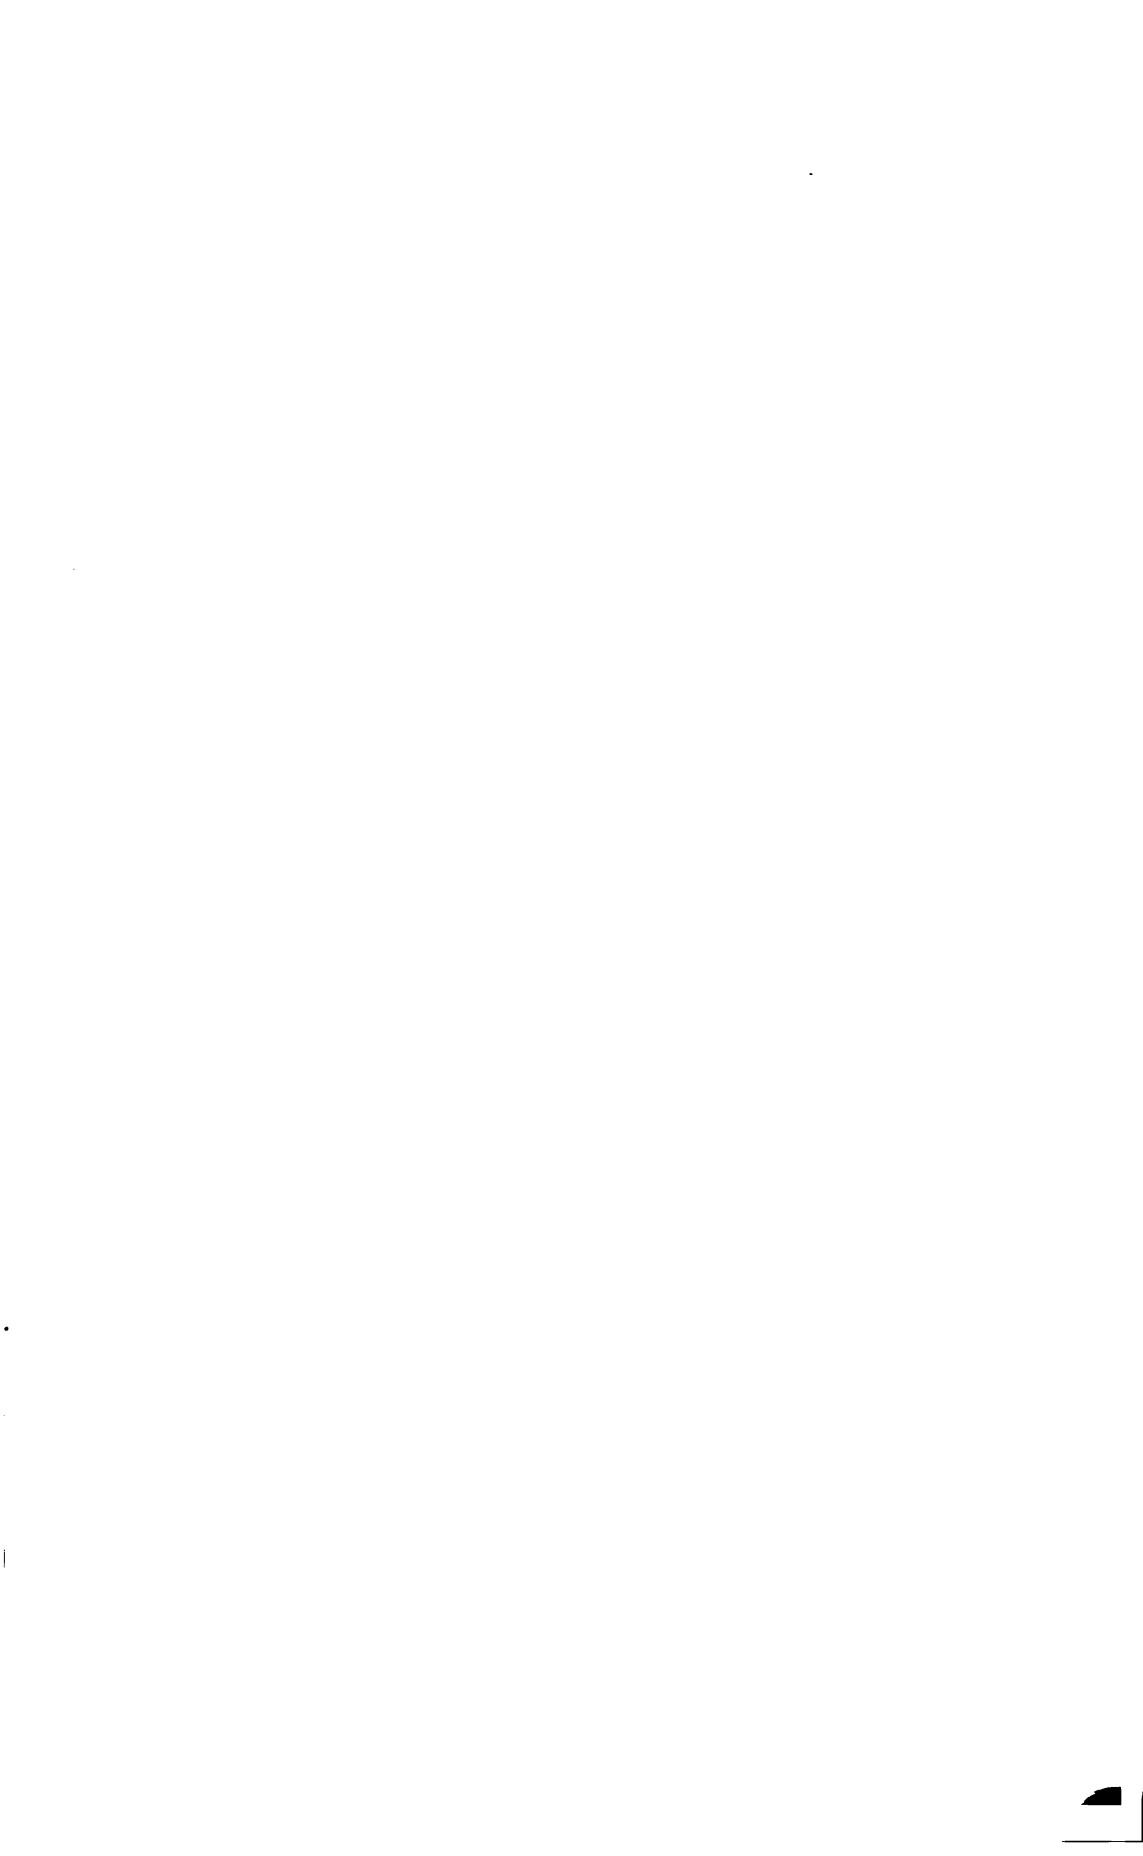

In these good old times England was so entirely a free country in the matter of spelling that one ought perhaps to include under the name Duncombe, the fact that Elizabeth, daughter of Thom: Dunscombe, Minister, was christened and buried here in 1590.

The Headmaster, when Duncombe was Usher, was Mr. Thomas Neale, who had eight children christened in Aldenham, six of whom died as infants and were buried here. Three of the six who died were named Thomas. Mr. Neale was "presented" in 1610 for baptizing a child privately in his house and not sending for the Minister to do it. In answer he pleaded necessity as the child died two or three hours after being christened ; this was a child named Gualter (Walter) who was christened on August 24th, 1610, and buried on August 26th, 1610.

The next Headmaster was Rowland Greenwood, whose appointment as Headmaster I am unable to find in the minutes but his daughter Elizabeth was christened here in 1624, and he seems to have been Curate in charge of the Parish for some years, as his signature will be found at the foot of the pages of the Register from 1629-33.

Greenwood resigned in 1634, having accepted the Rectory of Wimbish, Essex, and was followed by Christopher Smyth, M.A., who was also a "Minister," witness his signature in the Burial Register, 1635. Mr. Urwick mistakes both Greenwood and Smyth for Vicars of the Parish ; he also refers to one William Creed, who was he says "licensed to Aldenham in 1627," and was certainly Usher here in 1650, and in 1652 when he died. Edward Nicoll may have been in Orders, and so may Robert Cresswell who was Usher under Christopher Smyth, and so may Jeremy Collier, M.A., who was elected Head-master in 1648. William Elliott who succeeded Collier in 1653, was certainly a clergyman and took two weddings in this Church in 1659.

INTERIOR OF ALDENHAM CHURCH.

FROM PHOTOGRAPHS BY MR. W. COLES, 1888.

Some Objects of Interest in Aldenham Church.

This Church is said to rest on the foundation of an earlier Saxon Church, and we may probably assume that there has been on this spot a Building dedicated to the Worship of God for over one thousand years.

The earliest portion of the present building, however, is probably not more than 700 years old. This is a little Norman window, the lower of two little windows at the west end of the South Aisle. The late Rev. Henry Fowler, who was a learned antiquary living in St. Albans, was of opinion that it was in its original position, and he suggested that there might have been at one time a very small chamber above it lighted by the quatrefoil window in the same wall, and used perhaps for a sleeping place by a Priest. Mr. W. Page, the Editor of "The Victoria History of Herts," inclines to the view that this window was moved into this position, as he doubts the existence of a South Aisle in the original Norman Church. At all events we can hardly be wrong in assuming that it was one of the windows of Aldenham Church, or possibly of a Porch to Aldenham Church in the reign of King John (A.D. 1199).

Fifty years later, about 1250 A.D., the Church must have been largely rebuilt, for a good deal of it dates from that period, notably our beautiful Purbeck marble font and the Tower windows on each side of it, also the two Western Arches on the south side of the Chancel, in front of the Cromer monuments, and the windows behind the monuments are of this date; as also is the "Priest's door" in the Sanctuary and the window above it; and the "Piscina," the drain on the South side of the Altar, used in the cleansing of the Eucharistic vessels after Communion.

The Priest's door and the window above it were no doubt originally external, and were enclosed within the building by an extension of the Lady Chapel early in the 15th Century.

Mr. Page has most kindly allowed me to see the rough notes for his article on Aldenham Church in the forthcoming History of Herts, and I see that he puts the building of the South Aisle at about 1340 and the building of the North Aisle at about 1450; visitors will not fail to notice the difference in the height and Capitals of the Pillars on each side of the Nave, and will be interested to hear that the Pillars on the South are at least 100 years older than those on the North.

The Church is the more interesting, and perhaps also the more beautiful, because it is the work of many centuries, and in adding to it or altering it no one seems to have taken the least trouble to make the new match or pair with the old. There is a broad Aisle on the North side and a narrow Aisle on the South. The Chancel Arch is very far out of the centre of the Chancel and not exactly in the centre of the Nave. The West door is not opposite the Altar. On the South side of the Chancel there are three Arches, and on the North side there is a much later Arch and a half Arch. The window which should be right over the centre of the North door is about a foot out of the centre. Nothing in the Church exactly matches anything else; the building has grown through all the centuries like a great oak tree, and the result, however unsymmetrical, is undeniably pleasing.

A very beautiful feature in the Church is the nave roof of carved and painted oak which dates from the end of the 15th Century. By order of the South Kensington Museum three pictures of the decoration on this roof were made a short time ago and are now exhibited in London; a copy of one of these pictures may be seen in our Vestry. Another interesting piece of wood-work in the Church is the Screen at the East end of the South Aisle under the Archway leading into the South Chancel Aisle or Lady Chapel. The top of this Screen was destroyed in 1813 because it was out of repair, and the rest of it was pulled down and thrown away in 1843 or 1847. Fortunately the carved work lay long in a corner of the carpenter's shop, and some of it was still there in 1882 when it was restored to its former place under the supervision of Sir Arthur Blomfield, who replaced what was lost with the help of an old water colour drawing by W. Hunt, in the possession of the owner of Aldenham House. The old wood work of this Screen is painted, while the new wood is left bare so that the new can be readily distinguished from the old. It will be seen that the top of this Screen is broad and formed part of the passage to the Rood-loft which was reached by a flight of steps, the two doorways to which may be seen close to the Screen of which we are speaking. All the oak seats and almost all the other Screens were given in 1882 by Mr. Henry Hucks Gibbs (now Lord Aldenham) of Aldenham House. At the present moment (1902) Lord Aldenham is having a new Screen with a broad top made for the Chancel Arch to match this old Screen in the South Chancel Arch, and he proposes to place the present Chancel Screen at the west end of the church before the font. The waggon headed roof of the Chancel was made from designs by Mr. Talbot Bury in 1847 and was decorated in 1882. This roof replaced a flat white ceiling which was lower than the crown of the Chancel Arch (see Clutterbuck's History of Herts, vol. i. p. 136).

The most beautiful monuments in the Church are the recumbent effigies of the wife and daughter-in-law of William Crowmer, sometime Lord Mayor of London.

The dress of the ladies is said to be of the end of the 14th century, but Crowmer was not Lord Mayor till the year in which Henry V. came to the throne (1413 A.D.) two years before the Battle of Agincourt.

William Crowmer was a contemporary of the well-known "Dick" Whittington, who was thrice Lord Mayor of London (1397, 1406 and 1419 A.D.), and Crowmer himself held the office a second time in 1423 A.D.

The Church is very rich in memorial brasses of the 15th and 16th centuries; the little figure in front of the Crowmer monuments of a woman by herself, is interesting as showing the costume of a woman of the middle class about the year 1480.

In front of the Altar is a curious brass of a woman in her shroud, with the following inscription:—

"Here under this marble stone
Lyethe Lucas Goodyere deptyd and gone.
It pleased the Lord God in Octobre the 10th day,
She being in child-bed, deceased without naye,
And Edmond her lytle sone lythe her by,
On whose Sowllys Jesu have mercye. 1547."

(This last line is cut off but is quoted from Chauncy's "Hertfordshire.")

With this may be compared another figure of a woman in her shroud at the east end of the North Aisle, scratched on the stone of John Robinson, of Aldenham Wood, who died at the age of 23 in the year 1674. It seems that he was engaged to be married to one Sarah Smith, and on his gravestone may be seen her figure wrapped in a shroud, with one finger pointing sadly down to his grave, a label with her own name on it coming out of her mouth, and underneath the figure the following lines:—

“Death parts the dearest lovers for awhile,
And makes them mourn who only used to smile:
But after Death our unmixed love shall tye
Eternal knots betwixt my deare and I.”

J. R.

I, Sarah Smith, whom thou didst love alone
For thy deare love have laid this marble stone.”

Another monument worthy of notice is that to Mr. and Mrs. John Coghill, who died within a few weeks of each other in the year 1714, and are represented together in the full costume (periwig and high heels and all) of the reign of Queen Anne, resting for ever on their elbows.

A better style of monument than this is the little Jacobean figure of Mrs. Katherine Cade, who was “descended of the antient family of Throckmorton.” She died in 1650, and is represented in the full dress of that period, with ruffs and frills, kneeling at a prie-dieu, under a canopy. These kneeling figures were always placed so that they faced eastward, and this monument was moved in the 19th Century from the opposite wall, where it blocked the opening of the Priest’s door.

Her “most intirely affected husband,” as he calls himself in the inscription, has in his effort “T’imbalme her virtues in the mindes of men” produced a highly poetical and somewhat (in our sense of the word) affected and very wordy epitaph.

There are two helmets hanging in the Chancel, one on the south side of the Sanctuary is said to have belonged to Sir Edward Carye, Bart., who was buried under the Altar in this Church in 1618. Sir Edward was the Father of the first Viscount Falkland and of Mistress Miriall, wife of Thomas Crompton, who died in 1600, and whose monument is on the same wall as the helmet. There is also in a niche above the Altar rails a brass erected to the memory of some of his ancestors by the present Viscount Falkland in 1889. The other helmet on the north side of the Chancel, is earlier and more interesting than Sir Edward’s helmet and probably belonged to Sir Humphrey Coningsby, a Justice of the King’s Bench in the reign of Henry viii, who lived at Penn’s Place in this Parish, and at Hampton Court, Herefordshire. He was Great-grandfather of Sir Ralph Coningsby, who built North Mimms Place, and whose grandson, John Coningsby, was christened here in May, 1638, and buried here in June, 1697; John Coningeby’s Tomb is outside the East window of this church. Sir Humphrey founded a Chantry on Cobden Hill, Radlett, about 1510, because the Radlett people complained that when they went to Mass in Aldenham Church their houses were broken into by robbers from a “suspecte place called Bushey Heth” All Chantries were dissolved by the Act, 1 Edw: vi, Cap. 14, and the lands with which Sir Humphrey had endowed the Radlett Chantry were given in his life-time to one Thomas Strete, a Groom of the Privy Chamber. Sir

Humphrey died in 1551, and was "intombed" in Aldenham Church (see inscription on a monument in Rock Church, Worcestershire, the Tower and aisle of which were built by Sir Humphrey in 1510).

At the west end of the Church near the Font there is a very remarkable old oak chest. The following account of it is taken from a report made to the Society of Antiquaries, on 17th March, 1887, by Mr. F. G. Hilton Price, F.S.A. After referring to Cussans' History of Herts, vol. iii. p. 261, where Mr. Cussans speaks of this chest as the finest parish chest he ever saw, Mr. Hilton Price goes on to say "I came here and was greatly pleased with this chest, as it is certainly the finest I have seen; and, thinking it was worth describing and illustrating, I was induced to request Mr. Gibbs to permit an artist to make drawings of it; this he kindly agreed to, and now I have the pleasure of placing before you the drawing with measurements and details as done by Mr. J. P. Emslie. The following are the particulars: the chest is of solid oak, 9 feet 10 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches in length, 1 foot 10 inches high, 2 feet 1 $\frac{1}{2}$  inch broad. There are two compartments, one 7 feet 2 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches in length, the other 2 feet 7 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches; the thickness of the wood is three inches. The lid, which is very heavy and massive, is fastened to the chest with seventeen large hinges of wrought-iron. It is encased with bands of iron five inches in width, crossing each other, and fastened to the woodwork with large flat-headed nails or studs. There are three locks in front, and eight massive hasps, varying in size from one foot by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches in width to 10 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. The chest was additionally secured by long iron bolts, one for securing the cover of each compartment, which passed through the eyes over which the hasps were drawn. One of the bolts was removed by a most curious key, in the form of a large square-headed screw with a ring handle attached to it; this was screwed into the end of the bolt in order to withdraw it from its position. The key is three inches in length, that is to say, the square flat sided head is one inch long, and the screw two inches in length.

"The vicar sends me the following note about the chest:

"I found in the chest when I first opened it, in the small compartment, a lot of overseer's account books, in one of which I found some missing entries of burials, the entries for eleven years at the end of the seventeenth century. In the long compartment I found much rubbish, and the remains of an old barrel-organ with its lists of twelve tunes, such as Manchester, Old Hundredth, Winchester, Nayland, etc.; a nice old tile, which I believe I submitted to you; and a 'tally,' dated 1711, for a rate on the inhabitants of this parish. Last year, 1886, I moved the chest with the help of several men, and raised it on blocks of wood, so that the air might pass under it. As it was rotting underneath, I had the bottom painted with linseed oil."

The Overseer's Account Books have now been handed over to the Parish Council, but the front of the old barrel-organ, with its list of tunes and the old "tally" and the tile are still in the Vestry, where also will be found a copy of Mr. Emslie's drawing of the Chest and Key. I submitted the key to the British Museum many years ago (I think in 1885) and heard from them that they had never seen one like it. The chest is no doubt of great antiquity, and may have been used in more primitive days as a "strong box" for the neighbourhood.

The Altar, Altar-rails, Credence Table, Reredos, Organ, Pulpit and Brass Lectern were all given by Lord Aldenham in 1882. The stone work of the East window and Reredos were designed by Sir Arthur Blomfield to replace a window inserted in 1847, the stone work of which was perishing. The Mosaic Panels of the Reredos were made by the Venice and Murano Company from designs by Messrs. Heaton, Butler, and Bayne, and the Organ was built by Messrs. Gray and Davison. The Bishop's Chair was designed by Mr. W. R. Lethaby, made by Kenton & Co., and given in 1892 by the Vicar, who also gave at about the same time an oak screen (designed by Sir Arthur Blomfield) and curtains which separate the Eastern part of the Lady Chapel now used as a Choir Vestry. In this part of the Lady Chapel should be noticed the old wooden Altar-step and the restored remains of a Piscina and Aumbry.

Stained Glass Windows. There is no ancient stained glass in the Church. Of the modern stained glass the best is by Mr. C. E. Kempe, whose work will be seen in the following five windows—

1. Three-light window in North Chancel Aisle. This window was given by the Vicar and two of his brothers (the Hon. Vicary Gibbs, M.P., and the Hon. Herbert Gibbs), to replace a very bad window which had been given in memory of Miss M. A. Nichol in 1864. The present window is a very beautiful specimen of Mr. Kempe's work representing the Crucifixion.

2. Three-light window at West end of North Aisle. Representing the Angels appearing on Christmas night to the Shepherds of Bethlehem. Given in memory of Mr. Richard Christian in 1897.

3. Small Norman window at West end of South Aisle. Representing St. Augustine, of Canterbury. Given in memory of Mr. Lionel Rickards in 1898, the 1300th anniversary of the landing of St. Augustine in Kent, A.D. 598.

4. Quatre foil window above the last mentioned window. Representing the Royal Arms. Given in 1901 by the Parish as a thankoffering for the long Reign of the Good Queen, 1837 to 1901.

5. Two-light window in the South Aisle close to the last two windows. Representing St. Stephen and St. Alban. Given in 1900 in memory of Richard Charles Barnett, Lieutenant, King's Royal Rifle Corps, who fell, aged 23, on Talana Hill, in the first battle of the Boer War, 20th October, 1899.

Of the other windows, the two in the South Aisle, and the two behind the Crowmer Monuments, and the East window, and the Angels above the Mosaic on the North wall of the Sanctuary are all by Messrs. Heaton, Butler & Bayne.

The window (representing the Marriage Feast at Cana in Galilee) over the North door, is by Messrs. Burlison & Grylls, and is not a good specimen of their work.

Next to it in the North Wall is a very bad window (representing six Corporal Works of Mercy) by Messrs. Clayton & Bell (1864), and next to this is a poor window said to be by Hardman.

There are three other stained windows which do not add to the beauty of Aldenham Church. The worst of these, because it is the most prominent, is the West Window over the Font. Another is in the South Wall of the Lady Chapel, and the third is in the South Wall of the Sanctuary over the Piscina.

The only other stained glass in the Church is a representation of the Arms of the Brewers' Company, and of Mr. Richard Platt who founded the Grammar School in 1597. These Arms are in the window close to the Organ in the North Chancel Aisle, and the glass is evidently of the 19th Century. This window lighted the square pew in which the Grammar School sat before 1882. In those days (as the present writer well remembers) there was an external door into the North Chancel Aisle where the Coghill Monument (1714) now stands. This monument and the organ were in the Lady Chapel on the other side of the Chancel, the Vestry door opened southward, inside the present Altar-rails, the Table now in the Vestry was used as an Altar, and was protected by Altar-rails which were close round it, and the Chancel was full of large pews. The largest of these was in front of this Platt window extending right back to the wall, and held the whole Grammar School with Mr. Leeman (who was head-master from 1843 to 1876) sitting in the front row. Opposite this was the Aldenham House pew; the Vicarage pew was on the South side nearer the Chancel Arch, and on the North side were the Aldenham Abbey and Munden pews. The organ of that time was a small instrument which stood against the South wall of the east end of the Lady Chapel, and could be played if there was an organist, but was also so made that it could be used as a grinding organ, and the organ blower could grind tunes out of it if there were no one capable of playing.

Aldenham Church Bells There is a fine peal of eight Bells, of which the Tenor was cast by Chandler in 1683, Nos 7, 6, 5, and 4 are old bells which were re-cast by Warner in 1865. No. 3 is undated, but was cast by Thomas Mears some time between 1780 and 1850, and the two last bells of the peal were cast by Warner in 1889, and given No. 2 by the Vicar, and the Treble by Mr. Henry Hucks Gibbs. These two bells have on them the names of their donors, the date, 1889, and the lines,

“Praise the Lord on the great bells well sounding,
Praise Him on the light bells sweetly ringing.”

The Tenor weighs 15 cwts. and the Treble just over 5 cwts. Besides the above peal of eight there is a small bell, having on it the inscription, “Thomas Waller Ralph Hickman, 1647.” These may probably have been either the donors of the Bells or the Church-wardens of the Parish. Ralph Hickman was certainly living in Aldenham at the time (see Registers of Christening and Burial, 1640-1660), and there are several Waller entries, though none as late as 1647 in this Volume.

The Tower in which these bells hang was probably built in the 13th Century, but Mr. W. Page is of opinion that the heavy angle buttresses, and the octagonal stair turret at the North East Corner, were added late in the 15th Century. The buttresses reach nearly to the top of the Tower, and some large specimens of “Hertfordshire Pudding-stone” have been used in building them.

being a copy of a picture he made of the Decoration for the South
Kensington Museum.

Two Palimpsest Brasses.

1. Part of the Coat of Arms of Ralph Stepney, to whom Henry VIII. granted the Manor of Aldenham in 1547.

This brass came loose on the slab of Stepney's tomb which is in the Aisle leading to the Font, and being palimpsest has not been replaced though the work on the other side is unimportant.

2. Memorial Brass (imperfect) of John Long, Alderman of London, who died 1538.

This brass belongs to Aldenham Church (see Weever's Funeral Monuments) but it has for many years been supposed to be lost.

The Inscription on the other side is a very beautiful piece of work in raised letters of the 12th or 13th Century.

Both of these Brasses are fixed to the wall of the Vestry so that either side can be seen.

Restorations of Aldenham Church in the 19th Century.

In 1813 a Restoration was undertaken in response to an order from Archdeacon Middleton of Huntingdon, who found the Church "much out of repair," "several parts of the Church and Chancel being in a state of Dilapidation and Decay." It was in the course of this "Restoration" that they destroyed the top of the Wooden Screen in the Arch of the South Chancel Aisle and destroyed also the plastered partition which filled all the upper part of the Chancel Arch down to the Capitals of the pillars. This partition had the Ten Commandments painted on the face towards the Congregation, and Sir Edward Cary's Coat of Arms on the eastern face. The Surveyor employed at this time was Mr. George Smith.

In 1814 Mr. John Shaw, Architect, was called in to report on the state of the Spire. His report is among the papers in the Iron Chest and is copied into the Vestry Minute Book. He says that the Spire was in a most dangerously decayed state, and that there was great risk of its falling through the Tower and carrying the Belfry with it. He suggests that the lead on it amounting to about 50 cwt.s. should be removed, the timbers strengthened, and the Spire covered with oak shingles. This was done, though some of the Parishioners desired simply to remove the Spire, thinking that the Tower would "look full as well without it." They were, however, restrained from this action by the Archdeacon. Mr. Shaw speaks of the Church as one of the most beautiful village Churches he ever saw.

In 1843 the Churchwardens borrowed £300 on the security of the rates and spent it on restoring the Church. It was, I believe, at this time that they pulled down the Musicians' Gallery under the Tower, and the Aldenham School Gallery which extended eastward in the South Aisle from the South door, and was erected in 1686 by the Brewers Company.

In 1847 the Chancel was repaired and reseated, and the flat white washed ceiling was replaced with a wagon headed roof. The Architect was Mr. Talbot Bury. There is a picture (lithograph) of the chancel as restored in 1847 hanging in the Vestry, and a notice of the restoration in the Ecclesiologist for 1852, p. 443.

In 1882 the whole Church was thoroughly restored and reseated in oak at a cost of about £11,000 by Mr. Henry Hucks Gibbs (now Lord Aldenham) of Aldenham House. The Architect was Sir Arthur Blomfield, A.R.A.

It is not necessary to repeat what has already been said about this restoration in the Article on the Church, but it may be well to place on record that some of the most interesting features of the Church were discovered under plaster and white-wash at this time. For instance, the Rood-loft Passage, the Priest's Door, and the window above it opening into the Lady Chapel, and the little Norman window at the West end of the South Aisle, and the two windows North and South of the lower stage of the Tower. In a letter dated 13th Oct., 1888, Sir Arthur Blomfield, says "The Quatrefoil window at the West end of the South Aisle had been already opened before we began and partly renewed—we finished it."

The Church was closed for some months during this Restoration, and an Iron Building on Letchmore Heath was used instead of it. The opening Service was at 11 a.m. on Thursday, July 27th, 1882. Bishop Claughton, of St. Albans, preached on the words, "Our holy and our beautiful house where our Fathers praised Thee" (Isaiah lxiv. 11), the Service was said by the Vicar (the Rev. C. L. Royds), and the Lessons were read by Archdeacon Grant, of St Albans, and the present Vicar of Aldenham then a Curate at St. Andrew's, Wells Street. Luncheon was given after Service by Mr. H. H. Gibbs, in a tent in the Vicarage Garden.
